JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, APRIL 27th, 1872.

As we go to press the Cincinnati Convention has made no nomination. If the Convention acts with wisdom in the choice of a candidate, he will undoubtedly be the next President of the U. S.

The New York courts have recently decided that dogs are property. Some one, on this, makes the point that they are taxable; which can hardly be gainsaid. There are about 1700 in Jacksonville, but if it were to collect on them ad valorem, we don't think he would realize 17 cents.

The man who dreamed for four nights in succession that he would be murdered and on the fifth was murdered (an account of which we published) is not as dead as he thought he was. He merely made a mistake and ran off with a few thousand dollars of Government funds, leaving his old coat, hat, a little blood, &c., as an affectionate token of regard for his securities.

ALABAMA LIBERAL REPUBLICANS.—Ex-State Senator Lambert, of Coosa county, passed through Jacksonville last Sunday, enroute to the Cincinnati Convention. Huntsville will send a delegation composed of Nick Davis and others. Hon. Samuel F. Rice and others from Montgomery. David L. Nicholson, of DeKalb county, has written a letter to Nick Davis, in which he brings a terrible indictment against the present administration and the Radical party as represented in Congress, and in which he declares himself and other Liberal Republicans of the District in sympathy with the Cincinnati movement.

POLITICAL.—Idaho election comes off May 7th. The National Democratic Committee meets at Mr. Belmont's house in New York, May 5th. The Tennessee Democratic Convention meets in Nashville, May 5th. The New York Democratic Convention meets in Rochester, May 15th. Pennsylvania Democratic Convention meets May 30th. Washington Territorial election June 3d. Oregon election June 3d. Louisiana Democratic Convention meets again June 3d. The Republican National Convention meets in Philadelphia, June 5th. Indiana Democratic Convention meets June 12th. Texas Democratic Convention meets at Corsicana, June 17th. Arkansas Democratic Convention meets at Little Rock, June 19th. It is supposed the National Democratic Convention will meet at St. Louis, July 4th.

MEMORIAL DAY IN JACKSONVILLE.

The 26th day of April was observed in Jacksonville with the usual ceremonies. Respect for the day was universal in the town. At 10 o'clock in the evening, according to the programme the business houses were all closed, and the concourse of people assembled to offer the usual tribute of respect to the gallant and glorious Confederate dead who sleep in our cemetery, moved off about four hundred strong, under the superintendence of Gen. John H. Forney, Chief Marshal of the day, in the following order:

1. Young ladies escorting Orator of the day.
2. Pupils of Female School.
3. Students of College.
4. Ladies in procession.
5. Fire Company in uniform.
6. Citizens on foot.
7. Citizens on horseback and in carriages.

In this order the procession moved to the cemetery, where quite a crowd had already gathered. On reaching that spot, ladies and gentlemen selected for the duty sang: "How sleep the brave," &c., after which a most fervent, eloquent and appropriate prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Deavenport of the M. E. Church. After prayer Col. John H. Caldwell, orator of the day, was introduced, and for fifteen minutes held the attention of the large assemblage, during the delivery of an ex tempore address, touching in its pathos, eloquent in delivery and thrilling in sentiment, bringing tears to many eyes and awaking emotions the purest and most sacred in every bosom present; we say ex tempore address, for the orator on the arrival at the ground, found the throng standing exposed to the rays of a scorching sun and otherwise so uncomfortably situated as to lead him to abandon the line of remark fixed upon, which would have consumed more time than he cared to have his audience kept standing, situated as they were. It was an address entirely suitable to the subject and the occasion, one that was worthy the eloquent tongue that uttered it. At the conclusion of Col. Caldwell's remarks, the young ladies, with garlands and flowers, who were selected to decorate the graves of the Confederate dead, moved forward under an arch of evergreens at the entrance of the cemetery to their beautiful task, singing as they went from grave to grave, paying homage the fair to the brave, the appropriate song: "The Land we Love," which they continued singing until the grave of the last hero was visited and decorated. While those who sleep in our midst were so affectionately remembered, the noble ones from Calhoun county who sleep on well fought battle fields and in the land of the stranger were not forgotten. A wreath for each, bearing his name, was woven by fair hands and hung from an old oak on the grounds, forming a large border around its knarled and ancient trunk, all of which was capped by a larger wreath than any, bearing the inscription: "Dedicated to the Confederate Dead of Calhoun County." After the honors had been paid to the Confederate dead, the procession was broken up, and those of the throng who had relatives interred on the grounds moved quietly, unostentatiously, but lovingly about decking their graves with flowers and otherwise paying every tribute that affection, hallowed and deepened by separation, could suggest.

All together it was such a scene and such a day as leaves the participants better men and women, and more patriotic citizens; a scene such as should be witnessed in every hamlet and city of the South in whose bosoms sleeps a Confederate soldier, or from which there went forth one or many to do service for our country and returned not again; a scene that should be repeated from year to year, as long as the memory of those who died for us may last, as long as the story of their great courage and sublime heroism is told.

CORRESPONDENCE.

NEAR OXFORD, Ala., April 30, 1872. EDITORS REPUBLICAN.—In your issue of the 13th instant, you publish the proceedings of a public meeting held in Jacksonville on the 9th, relative to the erection of a monument at that place as a suitable and appropriate memorial for the Confederate dead of Calhoun County, and among other things set forth, is the appointment of committees in each of the several precincts in the county. Again in your paper of the 20th you publish an article on the same subject, and after saying that a gentleman from a distance will soon visit your town to contract for the erection of the monument, you state that, "what is done by the committees, whose names we print again, will be done speedily."

While your failure to reprint the names of the persons comprising the respective committees as above promised, will result in no serious injury in accomplishing the object for which they were appointed, still it is believed, that some, if not many of them are not sufficiently informed as to the duties in respect they are expected to perform. No specific instruction for their guidance have been published, in fact no instructions at all, which should be done for some reason than one—the public at large need information on the subject in question, as well as the members of the committees. Money is to be raised, subscriptions to the work are to be obtained, and other duties, such as securing the names of the deceased soldiers; but what else? What facts it is desired should be procured relating to the deceased, his age, the command to which he belonged, his company, &c., (if any thing of the nature is wanted) many members of the committees may not know. There is yet another matter pertaining to the subscriptions; a greatly larger sum in the aggregate may be obtained in this form and under this head, than can be possibly in money paid in advance. But what shall it be understood that subscriptions be payable? In how many installments may a subscription be made payable, and when shall it be paid?

Would it not be well in your next issue to publish for the instruction and information of all parties the exact duties touching the points herein mentioned, so that the friends of the enterprise may know how to proceed in the premises? This will clear the way that all may go intelligently to work.

ONE OF A COMMITTEE.

[For the Republican.]

Wealth, Wealth and Prosperity for the Southern States, the Brightest Stars in the Union.

To the citizens of the Southern States.—It is a fact, for us to be true of loss, privation, suffering and distress, you have endured during the late unhappy war, for you know it all; but it is all over except its memory. Now we are met out to us by the hand of tyrants and to continue so long as we permit. Now the question is are we willing to submit to oppression, injustice and wrong for all time to come; or can we prevent it without suffering the privations of another war? I answer yes. A determination to do a thing is half the battle; and not doing it is a proof that we are willing to kiss the rod that smites us. Admitting and believing it can be done, although involving some privation, self-denial, and sacrifice of what might seem to be present interest, will the people act with wisdom and humanity?

In the first place, the present negro population, which has been used as a disturbing and dangerous political element by unconstitutional legislation and Northern bayonets, must be supplanted as soon as practicable, by a more intelligent, industrious and profitable population; and let the government encourage them to some other portion of its vast territory, where they can do much better.

I will address myself to the land-holders of the South, who are most deeply interested in the question. We eat and sleep on the land, and the great majority of the farmers. They ought to be richly rewarded, and will be, if they pursue the right course. We will not suppose the negroes to be gone, and you may have more land than you can cultivate, and the land is a great money-maker. Make pastures for stock of surplus lands, or rent, lease or sell them to honest, industrious men, payable in cotton, and raise all the cotton you can besides. Let all the land-holders unite in erecting factories of every kind, and every man take stock, from one share to as many as he can pay for. Raise cotton for this purpose and have it shipped to Europe and sold for gold or in payment for machinery for factories. The building could be done in a great measure by men, who are not land-holders, but would take stock in payment for work. You can raise the raw material and sell it for gold or have it made into cloth much cheaper than you could purchase goods made at the North. You can get the best of workmen to superintend your factories and give the rising generation a manufacturing education. Every man that comes South will bring wealth with him. Labor is wealth—education in the arts and sciences is wealth. All engaged in building & manufacturing are consumers, and furnish a home market for your surplus produce. Your lands increase in value, and employment given to every body. Sell your surplus cotton for gold, and use it to take one dollar of United States trash, for it is nothing else. Let it go where it belongs, and is on a par with their rotten political principles. We want no banks; they are and ever have been a curse to the country. When a farmer sells his produce for gold, he can take care of it for himself. When this is accomplished, your stock in factories will increase in value, and you can draw yearly dividends, and what you want at home. This will be better than banks or paying all your surplus to foreign bond and stock-holders.

Land is the property a man can own. From it he can get every thing else he wants, and if Southern land owners feel their charges, they will soon be over-reducers to hire negroes to make cotton for Northern manufacturers, who will eventually come South and purchase their lands for United States currency, which may become worthless, and the government is now bankrupt. I ask, in all candor, will you be thus duped by Yankee speculators on the very thing of all others you ought to keep? I mean your lands. If you wish to sell a part of your land, let it be to a man who feels a deep interest in the South, and will make it and become a useful citizen. Thus we will become an exporting instead of an importing people. Is not this reason and plain common sense. Open your eyes and see your danger and your remedy. Look at facts as they absolutely exist, and you will see the course you ought to pursue. Keep your lands—take stock in factories—raise cotton to supply them, and provisions to feed your people, and you will have your pockets lined with gold. Let bank bags go where they belong; and believe me your political independence will soon follow if you do not accompany your material independence.

Now let us ask again of all, individually and collectively is what I have said not true? If you answer in the affirmative, will you show your faith by your works? If you do not, you indolently or willingly consent to be slaves of despotic power, and deserve no better fate. You can raise your stock, your produce and cotton, and manufacture your goods cheaper than you can buy them. Now let us raise our money, and let us more to gratify our ungodly pride than it would to pay for shares in factory stock. You will have your yearly dividends in addition to all you make, and the best security in the world, even gold.

I have thus given you my views, and as they are for your consideration. Look at them honestly and candidly, and act for yourselves and your country. We have been under the yoke long enough. Now let us rise up and be a free people, and using the means which God has blessed us, and be free men. Then all will be well.

The Louisiana, Alabama and Texas Delegates to the Cincinnati Liberal Republican Convention, already in Cincinnati, have reported unanimously for Charles Francis Adams for President.

Cotton has been dull and on a slight decline for several days.

APRIL 29.—Congress.—The Republican caucus adopted the following order of business. Three appropriations bills then Robertson's amnesty; then Scott's Ku-Klux; then securing citizens the right to sue for damages.

HOME.—Among the bills introduced was one by Pierce of Mississippi, to provide for the greater efficiency of the public schools in the several States and for other purposes, a bill more stringent, if possible, than Sumner's Civil Rights bill. It provided for equality in public and private schools, hotels, cars, steamboats, theatres, etc., etc. The bill was referred to Committee on Education and Labor, of which Pierce is chairman, and he declares it shall be reported on the 1st of May.

FOREIGN.—It is now said that Don Carlos is not in Spain at all. French Government forbids Frenchmen participating in the civil war in Spain.

THE AREA OF VESUVIUS IS SLACKENING. There was another crater near Signe today, but with a very fresh opening now. The violence of the eruption seems to have subsided.

Yesterday the entire mountain was shrouded in smoke, and the village which is situated around it, the heavens were darkened by the dense clouds of smoke and ashes, and strong winds carried showers of burning cinders and old cinders as far as Seville and Palermo.

Now let us rise up and be a free people, and using the means which God has blessed us, and be free men. Then all will be well.

At a meeting of the members of the Bar, at Jacksonville, Ala., held in the Court House Saturday evening, April 27th, 1872, Hon. Thos. A. Walker was called to the chair and Wm. M. Hanes requested to act as Secretary.

On motion of Hon. John Foster, a committee of six was appointed to draft resolutions for the occasion, and to report suitable Resolutions for the consideration of the meeting, whereupon the chair appointed Hon. John Foster, Col. John H. Caldwell, Hon. M. J. Turnley, Hon. James Crook, Horace L. Stevenson, Esq. and Hon. A. Woods said committee, who, through their chairman, Hon. John Foster, reported the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, we have received the sad intelligence that Hon. A. J. WALKER, Ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Alabama, departed this life at Montgomery, Thursday the 25th inst. and

WHEREAS, Judge Walker commenced his professional life at Jacksonville, and the people of Calhoun who knew him long and well, loved and honored him in life and lament his untimely death; it is meet and proper that we, his professional brethren and friends of the Jacksonville Bar, should express our sympathy and sorrow at the great loss which the profession and the State have sustained by his death, and offer our humble tribute to his memory:

Resolved, That in the death of Judge Walker, the State has lost one of her distinguished jurists, the Bar one of its ablest and most learned members, and the community one of the purest and noblest citizens.

Resolved, That while we mourn that our distinguished brother has thus been cut off in the meridian of his usefulness and fame; yet it is a consolation, that he has left behind him a reputation, a name, and one, that his decisions, learned, able and logical, while on the Supreme Court bench, running through a period of twelve years; his unwearied industry and ability in the codification of the laws of Alabama; his pure and lasting monument to his memory and have forever identified his name with the jurisprudence of the State.

Resolved, That the sincerity, modesty and purity of his character were not less conspicuous than his learning and intellectual ability, and equally worthy the admiration and imitation of his professional brethren.

Resolved, That we tender our condolences to the family of Judge Walker, in this hour of their sad bereavement; and that we unite in the expression of our warmest sympathies in the great and irreparable loss they have sustained.

Resolved, That the Secretary of this meeting be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to the family of Judge Walker, as an expression of our sincere grief and heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement.

On motion the resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the secretary was requested to transmit the copy of the proceedings of this meeting, with a copy of the resolutions, to the family of Judge Walker.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

OUR CIVILIZATION.

How James Calvin Logston was Hanged in Tennessee.

[From the Nashville Union and American.]

The sheriff, J. C. Taylor, went into the jail a few minutes before 11 o'clock and told Logston it was about time to go out; if he wanted his funeral preached at the gallows; also asked him if he wanted something "eat," to be taken down to the gallows.

He is asked the Sheriff if it would be best to put on his shoes. The sheriff told him he didn't think it worth while, and as they were large it might be that the lid of the coffin would not go down if they were on. Logston said all right, and announced his readiness to go. His arms were then tied behind him, his chains removed and his shroud was put on. He was put in a two-horse wagon, seated on his coffin, surrounded by the Rev. Wright, P. and three Graham also had a seat in the wagon. A guard of about forty men surrounded the wagon and the procession moved out to the ministers singing.

The party arrived at the gallows in a few minutes. The gallows was composed of two uprights, a cross-beam and trap. When the wagon reached it Logston stepped out, and the crowd gathered and looked at it; he never looked toward it again until he ascended with the sheriff and Mr. Greer. After the wagon stopped the sheriff, at the special request of the crowd, and he went back and told the crowd that the lid of the coffin would not go down if they were on. Logston said all right, and announced his readiness to go. His arms were then tied behind him, his chains removed and his shroud was put on. He was put in a two-horse wagon, seated on his coffin, surrounded by the Rev. Wright, P. and three Graham also had a seat in the wagon. A guard of about forty men surrounded the wagon and the procession moved out to the ministers singing.

ROSE & CO. WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALERS, ALABAMA. Dr. C. G. Porter, DENTIST. We will endeavor to answer the questions of our correspondent from near Oxford next week. The names of the Committee were published as stated, but for want of room in the news columns they were placed on the advertisement. The critic of the "Locals" shall have a showing then also.

CROSS PLAINS LOCALS.
Farmers in the neighborhood look a little blue, but this is to be expected. Who ever heard of one that didn't "look blue" occasionally. This state of mind greatly enhances the genial exultation of harvest time. All by contrast you know.

The Rev. Mr. Neal, a much esteemed citizen of this place, has gone to the city of Birmingham to live. May he find a pleasant birth, and as many warm friends as he leaves behind.

Mrs. Price, relict of the late James Price, and the oldest citizen of the place, died a few days since.

Mr. Lay, an energetic gentleman, recently moved in, has established a tin-shop and gone to work manufacturing in real good earnest.

WANTED—Somebody to look after and stir up Postmasters, route agents, mail carriers and "any other man" that has ought to do with conveying letters from this to any other place. It sometimes takes eight or ten days for a letter to make the trip to Rome, and sometimes it don't get there at all. The same may be said of several other places up and down the road. Nor is it alone on the railroad; for it sometimes takes two weeks for a letter to get from Centre or Gaylesville to this place by the semi-weekly horse mail.

WANTED seriously—A great improvement in our singing in church and Sunday school. We ought to have an organ. Many smaller and poorer congregations at other places have spirit sufficient to procure organs and keep up with the times in church and Sabbath school singing. We are not old fogies about other matters, why should we be in this?

The same gentlemen who constituted the corporate authorities for the past year have been almost unanimously re-elected, with the exception of the Intendant who refused to run. Capt. J. N. Hood was elected without opposition and will doubtless make a very efficient officer. Mr. King Stewart, a right man in the right place, is retained as marshal.

Judge Bill Cox, alias Tohe, the universal genius still flourishes. He says a man of his varied talents and great usefulness in the community should be allowed to lie sometimes and drink a little whiskey occasionally.

They say the pupils of the Institute are to have a Festival on the first night of May and an excursion or picnic next day; good time expected.

SKYHY.

LADIGA LOCALS.
The Ladiga local has been silent for a while, because there has been but little to tell about that would be of interest. Corn is beginning to show which the rows run, and notwithstanding the frost this morning, everything looks springlike.

Some of our enterprising farmers are going to mature their cotton with Gunno. A car load has been disposed of here.

Since winter has broken up two Sunday Schools have been re-opened in this vicinity. The children turn out in force, but there is not so full an attendance on the part of the parents. It is idle to expect children to attend regular unless the parents attend too. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Our debating club still solves important questions. After next Saturday we will know whether or not the Homestead law is a benefit to the poor men of Alabama.

The mule fuss are settled and hands have been shaken all around.

Ladies love to look at pretty goods, especially when a nice and polite man shows them. If any one doubts this proposition let him keep into the store of J. R. Graham & Co. and skepticism at that point will be removed. Do they advertise? [They do.] I still remain near the Sea Creek.

ROCK.

ALEXANDRIA LOCALS.
We had the pleasure of a call from Col. Collyer, as he passed through on his way to Oxford. He informs us that Col. Pennington and Wells, who have been in New York sometime negotiating, write back very encouragingly. He thinks it will not be long before he can double the present force on the grading and push it forward more rapidly.

Dr. W. W. Dickie formerly of this place but now of Richmond Va., dropped in on us a few days since. He was in excellent health and welcomed in the valley, where he has many friends.

The past two weeks has been splendid farming weather and the continued absence of the farmers on our streets is a sufficient proof that they are making good use of the time.

Green & Ledbetter have just received a choice line of ladies Dress Goods, Hats and "Dolly Varden" Prints. We are satisfied every body should call at an early day and see their stock.

The parties who are organizing the Good Templars Lodge in Alexandria are succeeding well. They will in a few days send for the charter, &c. Our little town is pushing onward fast in the line of improvements; we have two Sabbath schools, both well attended, one prayer meeting and preaching twice per month, and before long the influence of the Good Templars Lodge will be seen in our midst, something Alexandria has long needed.

The A. B. C. will not hold their regular communication this week, as some of the members are absent at the Selma Fair, and the balance may be found in attendance at the Oxford S. S. convention.

More sickness in the valley at this time than has been since last Summer.

One day last week, near Centre Star in Lauderdale county, a stroke of lightning killed instantly a steer, without breaking a bone in its body. It is rather curious, that another steer, yoked with the one killed, and standing just by its side was unhurt.

Wm. Gilleylen assaulted W. A. Stone, at Tusculum last week, with a weight, inflicting a painful wound on the ear, for which he was fined $10 and bound over to Court.

Messrs. Peirce and Lassenbee, of Greenville, have been appointed students to the agricultural college.

A twenty-two year-old young man stole three yoke of oxen from a farmer near Mobile, Sunday night last. They were too slow a team for a fast young man, so he sold them for $60 and "dusted."

Incendiarism and burglars have been at work in Mobile.

The Huntsville Fair Association have purchased fifty acres of ground for their use, at a cost of $5,000.

Five delegates were appointed to Cincinnati from Huntsville: Nich Davis, L. M. Douglass, H. A. Wrench and two others.

A firm in Selma sold and delivered during the month of March one hundred and fifty car loads of corn, exclusive of their wheat and meal business, and the Selma Times says the usual comment upon planting all cotton is unnecessary.

The tax payers of Lowndes county are "investigating" somebody with a sharp stick, and some litigation up there will be the result. They want to know what has become of $5700 voted away since February, and intend to stop, if possible, any more "new issues."

A crazy negro undertook to bury himself in Mobile the other day. He was unearthed and sent to the hospital.

A party of gentlemen have left Montgomery to fish for "red snappers" in Florida.

The latest radical State ticket W. B. Cloud, M. D., for Auditor, and John A. DeBaron, Esq., of Calhoun county, for Treasurer.

The Lauderdale Times and Macon Journal, propose the name of Maj. W. V. Chardavoyne, for Auditor.

A wild, untamed horned frog, fresh from the pampas of the "Lone Star" State, was received at the Selma post office this week.

The Selma Argus, of the 26th inst., says: "It is rumored along the line of the Selma and Gulf Railroad, that the Governor will seize that road on the 27th for non-payment of interest on State-enclosed bonds and appoint M. J. Williams, Esq., receiver."

The Sun says: It is reported amongst the knowing ones, and we believe with some authority, that the very extensive shops and machinery of the Louisville Bridging Company, is to be removed to Birmingham.

The sum of $2,000 has been pledged by the citizens of Elyton to rebuild the courthouse lately burned.

Birmingham is to have the South and North railroad shops, and a band. Certain.

Dr. T. M. Bragg, of Greenville, is claimed by the South Alabamian, to be the oldest Mason in the United States. He was initiated February, 1816.

Wild turkeys are plentiful about Centre, Cherokee county.

HOW TO KEEP GATHERED FRUIT AND FLOWERS ALWAYS FRESH.
A friend has just informed us that fruit and flowers may be preserved from decay and fading by immersing them in a solution of gum arabic in water two or three times, waiting a sufficient time between each immersion to allow the gum to dry. This process covers the surface of the fruit with a thin coating of the gum, which is entirely impervious to the air, and thus prevents the decay of the fruit, or the withering of the flower. Our friend has roses thus preserved which have all the beauty of freshly plucked ones though they have been separated from the parent stem since June last.—To insure success in experiments of this kind, it should be borne in mind that the whole surface must be covered; for, if the air only gains entrance at a pinhole, the labor will be lost. In preserving specimens of fruit, particular care should be taken to cover the stem and all with the gum. A good way is to wind a thread of silk about the stem, and then sink it slowly in the solution, which should not be so strong as to leave a particle of the gum undissolved. The gum is so perfectly transparent that you can with difficulty detect its presence, except by the touch. Here we have another simple method of fixing the fleeting beauty of nature, and surrounding ourselves ever with those objects which most elevate the mind, refine the taste, and purify the heart.

SALT ON WHEAT.—John Burgen, of Palmyra, Illinois, writes to the Rock River Farmer: About the 20th of March last I sowed ten acres of wheat. On two and one half acres of this piece I put one barrel of salt. The whole piece was subject to the same cultivation, sown with a sower, cultivated and harrowed once. On the two and one-half acres the salt was sown broadcast and cross harrowed. Now for the result. The piece sown with salt yielded twenty-three bushels to the acre; the balance twelve. Where the salt had been sprinkled I also found the berry to be larger and plumper, and the straw yellower and stronger. I do not know if the result would always be as favorable, but I certainly will try it again, and advise my brother farmers to try the same experiment.

"Dolly Varden"
Dolly Varden, the fortunate young lady after whom the fashionable dress for the next Summer is named, was the charming daughter of a London Locksmith, Gabriel Varden by name, and lived in the reign of George the Third. The New York Mail, which answers a correspondent on the subject, says: "For further information we would refer our inquirer to a certain book of reference called 'Barnaby Rudge,' written by one Charles Dickens, an author of some local reputation." Whether the lady in question was given to wearing materials of a startling loud character in color and pattern this deponent has no knowledge nor information sufficient to form a belief. About a year ago, however, some inspired modiste re-christened what were then known as "coronettes," and called them "Dolly Vardens." The name was at first confined to chintzes, but it spread to the other materials. At a late dry goods exposition, "Dolly Varden" silks were exhibited; and now whole costumes, whose like was never seen on sea or shore, are named after the charming and coquettish little daughter of a London locksmith.

WOMAN AND WINE.
A writer in Scribner's Monthly, uses the following strong language, which will be responded to by the women who have suffered all over the land. Of the worst foes that women have ever had to encounter, wine stands at the head. The appetite for strong drink in man has spoiled the lives of more women—ruined more hopes for them, scattered more fortunes for them, brought to them more shame, sorrow and hardship—than any other evil that lives. The country numbers tens of thousands of women who are widows to-day, and sit in hopeless weeds because their husbands have been slain by strong drink. There are hundreds of thousands of homes scattered all over the land in which women live lives of torture, going through all the changes of suffering that lie between the extremes of fear and despair, because those whom they love, love wine better than they do the women they have sworn to love.

This is the pleasantly familiar way the New Orleans Mitrailleuse talks to Gov't Warmouth: "Now, young man, look out for squalls. We are going for you. What we have done, to show up your true character, is but the bite of a mosquito to what you may expect. We have the points, and dare to use them."

Helper, the "impending crisis" man, has outlived the era he prophesied long ago, and is trying to start a Radical organ at Salisbury, North Carolina.

SPECIAL NOTICES.
A NEW BEAUTIFYING AGENT.—All Dentifrices had their drawbacks, until the Salubrious Bark of the Soap Tree was brought from the Chilian Valleys to perform the fragrant Sotodoni, the most delightful article for the teeth that a brush was ever dipped into.

CHILDREN'S LIVES SAVED FOR 50 CENTS.—Every case of Croup can be cured when first taken, by Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment, warranted for 24 years, and never a bottle returned. Also cures Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns and External Pains. Sold by the Druggists. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York.

VINUS herself had been had. If beauty is skin deep, is skin deep it is necessary to secure and retain that part of it and ladies, instead of resorting to paints and powders, should remember that an impure, blotchy, or sallow skin is the proof of feeble digestion, torpid liver, or vitiated blood for all which Dr. WALKER'S CALAMAZIA, Vinus, is a safe, sure, and effectual remedy.

BURNETT'S COCOAINE.—No oils neither pomades or alcohols. It washes the hair or complexion—can compare with Cocaine as a hair dressing. It anchors the hair firmly in the scalp—gives it new life and lustre and renders it the "growing glory" of both sexes, old and young.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.—More accidents occur from using unsafe oils, than from steam-boats and railroads combined. Over 200,000 families continue to burn Pratt's Astral Oil, and no accidents directly or indirectly have occurred from burning, storing or handling it. Oil House of China Pratt, Established 1870, New York.

A BEAUTIFUL WHITE, soft, smooth and clear skin is produced by using G. W. Walker's "Bloom of the Face" Wash, freckles, sunburns, and all other discolorations from the skin, leaving the complexion brilliant and beautiful. Sold at all druggists. This preparation is entirely free from any material detrimental to health.

JUST THE REMEDY NEEDED.—Thanks to Mrs. Winslow's Taming Syrup, we have for years been relieved from attacks of neuralgic watching with poor, suffering, teething children.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.—Indigestion, depression of spirits and general debility in their various forms; also, as a preventive against Fever and Ague, and other intermittent fevers. The Ferro-Phosphated Bile of Gaillet, made by Cassell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all Druggists, is the best tonic, and for patients recovering from fever or other sickness, it is as equal.

RISLEY'S CENTINER GOLDEN BELL COLOGNE WATER according to the original formula of Prevost, Paris, so long known to the customers of Haviland Harlan & Risley, and their associates, is now made by W. H. Risley and the trade supplied by his successors, Morgan & Risley, Wholesale Druggists, New York.

THURSTON'S IVORY PEARL TOOTH POWDER.—The best article known for cleansing and preserving the teeth and gums. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle. F. C. Wells & Co., New York.

CAROLIC SALVE, unequalled as a healing compound. Physicians recommend it as the most wonderful remedy ever known. Price 25 cents per box. John F. Henry, Sole Proprietor, 8 College Place, N. York.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE.—This magnificent compound is second to none in the safety and most reliable dye in existence; never falling to impart to the hair uniformity of color, and rendering and clearing the scalp of dandruff and itching. It is a perfect anodyne not polluting the hair or scalp. It is the only preparation of the kind in the case with other preparations of opium. John Farr, Chemist, New York.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.—One who has long studied this absorbing subject now presents to the women of our country the result of his investigations. He is happy to say that he has at last discovered "Woman's Best Friend." It is adapted, especially, to those cases where the womb is disordered, and will cure any irregularity of the "monthly" course, or any trouble of mind, or like causes, by restoring the discharge in every instance. It is also in chronic cases its action is prompt and decisive, and saves the constitution from countless evils and premature decay. This valuable preparation is for sale at $1.50 per bottle by all respectable Druggists in the land. Prepared and sold by J. L. J. Randolph, Druggist, Atlanta, Ga. A thousand women testify to its merits.

Dr. GOTTLIEB FISCH'S BITTERS.
This preparation of the great Scientist, Dr. Gottlieb Fisch, of Germany, is based on the fact that, as all materials of the body are derived from Food, so all Vital Force, or Health, is derived from the Food stored up in Food. Dr. Fisch's Bitters enables the System to liberate and appropriate these forces, cures Dyspepsia, with its result, Debility and Lack of Nervous Energy; so tones up the system, and enables it to make Constipation and Biliousness impossible; it cures the most stubborn cases of indigestion, and restores the system to its normal state, and better endures the demands of an active life, made on its Force and Energy. Ladies in the most delicate, delicate persons and all emaciated and feeble after sickness, will rapidly strengthen by using this great preparation.

The University of Alabama has one hundred students, with the promise that the next season will open with all that there is room to accommodate.

A negro after gazing at some Chinese shook his head and solemnly said: "If de white folks be so dark as dat out dar, I wonder what's de color of de black folks."

There are two reasons why some people never mind their own business—One is that they haven't any business, and the second is that they have no minds.

Mrs. Sherman, the Connecticut Borgia, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to the Penitentiary for life. She slew but eleven persons.

The second wife of the late S. F. B. Morse, father of the telegraph, is a deaf mute graduate of the New York City Institute. Her property is worth $500,000, bequeathed by him.

A gentleman in Alachua county, Florida, has planted ten acres of arrow-root this season. His crop last year, on a quarter of an acre, was valued at the rate of five hundred dollars to the acre.

A wretched husband in St. Paul advertises for the recovery of his wife, "a tall woman, with gray eyes and a small baby just beginning to walk," who have been appropriated by "a tall pok market feller, with red hair."

A kind old father-in-law wanted to know why the Feejees were called cannibals, to which Barnum answered: "Because they live off other people." "Then," he replied, unhappily, "my four sons-in-law must be cannibals—they live off me!"

An English gamekeeper has recently broken a black sow to hunt game in the woods, and she is said to run in the hunt with wonderful success. She will track game, back and stand and point partridges, pheasants, snipes and rabbits as skillfully as a breed pointer. She bounds in response to a whistle and leaps her head and squeals with delight on being shown a gun.

A characteristic anecdote is related of an out-at-elbows poet, who by some freak of fortune coming into possession of a $5 bill, called to a lad and said: "Johnny, my boy, take this William and get it changed." "What do you mean by calling it William?" inquired the wondering lad. "Why, Johnny," replied the poet, "I am not sufficiently familiar with it to take the liberty of calling it Bill."

Progressive theology is Henry Ward Beecher's best hold. He is orthodox on principle, but with a slight qualification. He says: "I consider my self Calvinistic you know, and in this way. I believe what John Calvin would have believed if he had lived in my time and seen things as I see them. My first desire is to know what is true; and then I am glad if John Calvin agrees with me; but if he don't, so much the worse for him."

Six guns of the same class were left by the same vessel at Fort Jefferson, Dry Tortugas.

or six years, especially in the South, the monstrous expropriation of taxes and exorbitant in the Southern States is the fruit of white villainy. The thieves who perpetrated these robberies are now seeking to escape justice the just punishment of their crimes by howling lustily, "Grant," "Grant," "I'm for Grant," "Hurrah for Grant." The Cincinnati movement is at deadly feud with these robbers and their evil deeds. Let the lawless and downright colored men join it, then, and thus rid themselves of crimes which others only have perpetrated.

Postal Telegraph.

The Senate Committee on Post-roads is being urged to the postal telegraph bill.

originated by Senator Ramsey. It provides for the establishment of telegraph stations at all the post-offices throughout the country, and gives the Postmaster General full power to make such regulations as may be necessary to the successful conduct of its operations. The charges for the transmission of messages are to be uniform for equal distances, and for all general telegrams on which double rates have been provided are to have priority of transmission. The charges for the transmission of telegrams are to be prepaid by stamps, and the money-order system is to be adapted to the telegraph. Special contracts may be made with individuals and companies relating to telegraphic business on the line of the road; also with associations and with the press.

The rates for special dispatches to newspapers are not to exceed fifty cents for each one hundred miles sent in any one night, and seventy-five cents by day, for every five hundred miles they are transmitted. An officer, to be known as fourth assistant post-master general, is to be appointed, who is to exercise a general supervision over tele-graph.

In a religious excitement in a country town, a person that a neighbor, who took him for the husband and said: "I have become a Christian."

"I am glad of it," was the reply, for I suppose we shall now have a settlement of that little account between us. Pay me what thou owest."

Now, how Christian

tion Horace Greeley Took His Nomination.

We take the following recital of how the philosopher of the Tribune took his nomination at the hands of the Liberal Republican party of the Country, from the New York Sun.

Mr. Greeley remained in the Tribune office until 4 o'clock yesterday morning, reading the latest despatches from Cincinnati. At 4 A. M. he left his sanctum, and went to bed in French's Hotel. At 11 P. M. he was dressed, had eaten his breakfast, and reappeared in the Tribune office. Here he glanced over the morning newspapers, and read the latest Cincinnati dispatches. His friends, however, insistively tried to work him out down at his high writing-desk, and began to write editorial articles on subjects entirely disconnected with the Cincinnati election. Occasionally a friend dropped in upon him, but he kept steadily at work, only stopping to read the Cincinnati despatches. In answer to a letter he had sent to Lyman Trumbull, Mr. Trumbull would receive the nomination. It was evident that he really thought Mr. Trumbull the most worthy of all the candidates, and that his Trumbull's selection would give him great pleasure.

The mention of his own prospects always brought out a smile. It was easy to see that he had no selfish feelings, and that he only desired to serve a ticket nominated that would be acceptable to the people, and that would save the country in the interests of

When the result of the first ballot was announced, Dr. Greeley looked at the figures and then calmly resumed his writing. Meanwhile the announcement of the first vote was posted on the Free-Press bulletin board. A crowd collected. The large vote for Dr. Greeley surprised the spectators, but the general feeling was that Adams was the coming man. The second ballot, in which Dr. Greeley won to within four votes of Adams, drew out hearty expressions of good will. The third ballot showed Greeley steadily gaining. This opportunity called the crowd and his strength was real, and that he had a firm foundation. In the fourth ballot Dr. Greeley took seven votes, while Adams gained fifteen, the vote number being Adams 279, Greeley 251, and scattering 92.

When these figures appeared upon the bulletins, Dr. Adams's friends lost hope. A at the Tribune office announcing the nomination of Adams. It was shown to Dr. Greeley. He expressed no surprise, but continued writing a libellous article in his head. He showed no signs of disappointment. Ten minutes afterward the result of the fifth ballot was announced. Dr. Greeley had regained his lost votes and Adams was fifty-one votes ahead of him.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT.

At five minutes of 3 o'clock the Hon. Benjamin Wood entered the Tribune counting room. His fine face was flushed with excitement. He pressed his hands on the counter, and inquired for Dr. Greeley. In breathless tones he announced Dr. Greeley's nomination to Sam Lincoln. Before Mr. Wood could be ushered to Dr. Greeley's presence, Tom McWaters, one of the Tribune's old office-burs, ran lightly up the stairs into Dr. Greeley's office. The doctor had signed a fresh editorial article, the gold pen was dancing over a broad sheet of foolscap with almost lightning rapidity. Tom handed him a despatch. Dr. Greeley took his pen crossways between his teeth, turned partly around in his easy chair, bent toward the light, and read the following through his gold-bowed glasses:

CHENNAI, May 3.

Horace Greeley, Tribune, N. Y.

You were nominated on the sixth ballot.
D. H. WOOD, ASSESOR SRAOZA.

Dr. Greeley threw the despatch in his waste basket and drew off his glasses. The shrewd boy Tom fished the despatch out of the waste basket and shoved it into his vest pocket as a souvenir. In a second Mr. Sinclair and the Hon. Benjamin Wood were in the room shaking hands with the man, and warmly congratulating him. Dr. Greasley arose. His face was wreathed in smiles. He was pleased, and honestly expressed his pleasure. But when the mail clerks, the reporters, the pressmen, the composers, the office boys, the stereotypes and other employees of the Tribune rushed up the stairs and overwhelmed him with genuine expressions of pleasure, the heart of the good philosopher was touched with honest pride. His countenance reminded one of a summer's morn in June. He repeatedly shook hands, and thanked all for their kind wishes.

Messrs. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can not express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the water) in eleven minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

LOVE WITHOUT NONSENSE.

Not a Bit Like a Novel—A Capital
Take off on the High-Pressure
Style of Doing It.

Once upon a time there was a fair young maiden, whose name was Mary, although they called her Moll, for short. She wasn't a tall, dark-eyed maiden, with clear, transparent skin, and lips like cherries, and cheeks suffused with blushes. She didn't have glossy black hair, sweeping back in wavy tresses from her queenly brow, and her form wasn't a bit like Hebe's. No, there were none of these things. On the contrary, she was short and thin, and had red hair and freckles, and she also sported single teeth, and wore pails; but still she was a right nice girl, and there was a young man who fell in love with her, and his name was Bill, although his friends called him William when they wanted to hurt his feelings, for he didn't like it much. He wasn't fine-looking, and had neither curly brown hair nor a moustache. Not much. Bill hid himself out on soap-locks, and wore a goatee that he had dyed twice a week.

Now, this Bill was in love with Mary, but did he go and make a deliberate ass of himself? Did he, I say, go into a grove with her, and in the soft moonlight, by the streamlet that murmured sweetly by, and with the tender zephyr sighing through the foliage, fall down on his knees, seize her jeweled hand, and breathe his deep affection in the tender accents of fond attachment, and swear "by yon bright orb above us, always to be true?" Did he, I say? You can just bet he didn't. You can lay out your whole revenue safely on that. William knew too much about the price of pants to go flopping around on the wet grass with his good clothes on; besides, he never cared anything about streamlets or any kind of cold water, except with his gin. No, sir, it was exceedingly strange, but this infatuated William met her at the alley gate, and he stood right up on his old legs and says: "Say, Moll, old gal, s'posen we get hitched?"

But how did Mary behave? Did she go drooping to sleep over the bricks in a dead faint, or did she hide her gentle head on his shirt bosom to conceal her blushes? No, she didn't, and she didn't say, "I'm ever thine, my own love, dear William!" Oh, my, no. She looked right in his yellow eyes and says "I'm in, Billy! I'm the gal for these sort of things. Go in!" And instead of referring him to her father, she only said: "Won't the old man bust right out when you tell him? Ha! ha!" and she laughed. But she didn't ask William to try to mollify her fond father. No, no. She very wickedly advised him to "poke the old man in the nose if he gave him any of his lip." She was a funny girl, this Mary.

Now, the old man wasn't wealthy for he sold soap-fat for a living, and so he didn't think Bill was nosing around after his stumps; so when Bill asked him, he neither ordered him fiercely away, nor did the dewey moisture gather in his eagle eye as he passed his hand-stitched up there and said: "Bless you, my children, bless you!" Oh, no, nothing of the sort. He just blew his old red nose in his hand-danna and told Bill to take her along, for he was glad to get rid of her, he was, and William would be the same way mighty soon, for she was awful rough on victuals, and always broke plates when she got mad.

So, you see, there really was no necessity for William to come at midnight's solemn hour, in a cab, and throw a rose-ladder up to her window, and whistle three times on his fingers, and then go up, hand over hand, and bring her down in one hand and the trunk in the other, and a hand-box and an umbrella under each arm, and a whole lot of bundles, and then get into the cab and fly to some distant shore. That's the way it would have been in a novel; but Bill said he wasn't on that lay, and so he just went out in the yard, and out of pure joy, he skinned the cat three or four times on the grape-vine arbor, and then went and got his butcher cart, and drove Mary right down to the magistrate, to get the job done for a quarter—for he said he was some on low prices, he was.

But the very queerest thing of all was, that Bill had no tall, dark, ruffianly rival, with a scowling visage and black whiskers, who flew at him with a drawn dagger and a horse-pistol in each hand, and a muttered curse upon his lips, and cried wildly for "Revenge!" Ha! ha! and said: "Death!" and "Vil lain, thou diest!" Not any. There was another fellow in love with Mollie, to be sure, but he was a weak-eyed young man, who had sandy hair, and wore spectacles and a choker collar, and always looked scared when you hollared at him. So, when he saw that Bill had the best of the girl's affections, he looked all serene, and said: "Go in, Billy, if you hanker for her;" and as Bill was a trifle on the hanker, he sailed right in.

The Philadelphia Press is trying to palm off Grant and Colfax as newspaper men.

A LITTLE JUDICIOUS PRAISE.—

No heart is insensible to words of praise, or the kindly smile of approbation; and none are utterly above being affected by censure or blame. Children are particularly sensitive in this respect. Nothing can discourage a child more than a spirit of incessant fault finding, and perhaps nothing can exert a more baneful influence upon both parent and child. If your little one through the day has been pleasant and obedient, and you say to him, "My son, you have been good today, and it makes me happy;" and if, with more than a usual affectionate embrace, you say, "Good night, my dear child," a throb of suppressed feeling fills his breast, and he resolves on always earning such approval. If your grown son or daughter has accomplished some difficult piece of work; rendered you essential assistance; or have climbed some steep in the daily drill of study; or have acquired some new accomplishment, or added grace; or better than all, have gained the victory over some besetting sin—acknowledge it, praise them for it. Let them see by your tenderness the deep joy and comfort it gives you. Thus you will create a great incentive to right conduct, and lay a broad foundation for a character which shall be replete with succulent fruit and fragrant blossoms.

Messrs. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sirs:
I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in three minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

The Voting Power of the South.

One of the hopeful manifestations of Southern politics is to be found in the interest which the people there, without political or social distinction, are beginning to take in questions affecting their industrial development and material progress. This is to us deeply interesting, because the Southern States must continue to be in the future as in the past the most important wealth-producing section of the Union. Nor can their influence upon the revenue policy of the nation, as upon its politics, be overestimated. There is a common and dangerous sentiment abroad which finds expression in such utterances as these: "We are done with the South," "That job is finished," "The South is nothing." We are not done with the South; the job is not finished; the South is a powerful and vital force in the nation. The commercial tables of the country show that the contributions of the Southern States to our exportable wealth exceed in value the contributions of all the Union combined. In addition to this they furnished through their productions the basis of the most valuable textile industries. It will no doubt surprise many of our readers to learn that in the matter of population, the South leads the geographical sections of the Union. The total population of the United States is placed by the last census at 38,555,883. Of this number the Middle and Eastern States combined furnish in round numbers 12,000,000; the Western States, 12,000,000; the Southern States, or those commonly classed as such in olden times, 14,000,000. Their political preponderance is equally significant. The total number of votes in the electoral college is 287. Of these the Southern States, with New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania added, count 109 votes, as follows:

Maine.....	3	Connecticut.....	6
New Hampshire.....	3	New York.....	32
Vermont.....	3	Pennsylvania.....	28
Massachusetts.....	13	New Jersey.....	12
Rhode Island.....	3
Total.....	109

It will be seen that the Western States are entitled to 105 votes. California claims 6 votes and Oregon 3—making a total of 9 for the Pacific coast. The Southern States are entitled to 128 votes in the electoral college, being a majority over the New England and Middle States combined, and exceeding the consolidated vote of the great Northwest. Here are the figures:

Delaware.....	3	Ohio.....	22
Maryland.....	10	Nevada.....	3
Virginia.....	11	Michigan.....	11
West Virginia.....	5	Indiana.....	14
Kentucky.....	12	Illinois.....	21
Tennessee.....	11	Wisconsin.....	10
North Carolina.....	12	Minnesota.....	10
Missouri.....	15	Iowa.....	11
Arkansas.....	7	Kansas.....	5
Total.....	134

A Radical Gerrymander.

The following table, exhibiting the black and white population in the six Congressional Districts of Mississippi, as formed by the late Legislature, sufficiently indicates what a set of roundly composed the majority of that body. District. White. Black. Total. First.....20,513 30,612 51,125 Second.....35,845 39,225 75,070 Third.....41,175 45,093 86,268 Fourth.....55,583 51,023 106,606 Fifth.....55,583 51,023 106,606 Sixth.....55,583 51,023 106,606

White 282,890; black people, and 441,201 negroes in Mississippi, the negroes give the majority. It is unnecessary to dwell on this. Comment is unnecessary.

In allusion to questions which have come to us from some of our readers, we have to state that the call for a State Convention was issued, and published, we deem it proper to state some of the principal matters which will undoubtedly be acted upon by the Convention:

1. The nomination of candidates for the various State offices to be filled at the next general election.
2. The appointment of delegates to represent the State in the National Convention of the Democratic and Conservative Party to be held in Baltimore on the 9th of July next, if it be determined that the State shall be represented in said Convention; and the decision of the question whether such delegates shall go under instructions or otherwise.
3. The subject of the nomination of electors for President and Vice President of the United States.

We had supposed the objects of the Convention were sufficiently patent without a statement of them.

J. H. DICE,
J. H. WATTS,
P. T. SAYRE,
Central Committee.

Said a Detroit lady to a gentleman of that city, "You are not a nut, are you?" "No," said he, "I am the proprietor of a hand-organ, and expect to play Old Hamlet, I couldn't get seventy-five out of it."

General Grant is making concessions to public opinion. He has turned out brother-in-law Casey from the Collectorship at New Orleans. This is one result from the nomination of Greeley. The bold, insolent defiance of public sentiment by the "Military King" has undergone a very considerable amendment.

Philadelphia Age (May 15th.)

While narrow gauge railroads are being projected in all directions, a Mr. Burns of Wisconsin came before the public with a scheme for a railroad from the Atlantic to the West, to be built with a gauge of thirty feet. The road is to run from the East by the most direct line to Lake Erie. When it reaches the lake the road is to be built out into the water along a narrow five feet below the surface for some distance, and there end. It is to be operated with a machine which is even more wonderful than the road, and which will navigate the water as well as traverse the land. When this amphibious locomotive arrives at the jumping-off place at Lake Erie, it is to slide gracefully into the water, and by a slight transposition of its machinery become a steamboat. When it arrives at Monroe it resumes its character of locomotive, and rolls off on another broad gauge road to Lake Michigan, whence it is to take water for Chicago. The machine is to be sufficiently large to carry a vessel of five hundred tons, so that all necessity for ship-canal will be done away with. The route is expected to attain a speed of one hundred and twenty-five miles per hour on land, and twenty-five miles in water. Probably no one will doubt that a great reduction in the price of freights may be expected when Mr. Burns gets his broad gauge-road and amphibious locomotive in successful operation.

"Have you much fish in your bag?" asked a person of a fisherman. "Yes, there's a good eel in it," was the rather slippery reply.

The "headless rooster," which has been on exhibition at various places in the South, is not much of a novelty after all. Some four years ago, "headless roosters" were exhibited in New York and Boston until suppressed by the police, the exhibitors being punished under the law for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

Twenty-one of the Radical Representatives of the last North Carolina Legislature are acting with the Democracy of that State. This indicates the nature and extent of the change in the South. Philadelphia Age (May 15th.)

The reason why Governor Walker, of Virginia, is anxious to have it understood that he does not, as yet, accept Greeley, is made to appear from recent Washington advices. That is, the Governor is to be himself a candidate for the candidacy at Baltimore. Chicago Tribune (May 15.)

Among the distinguished citizens who took Vice-President Colfax as his word when he declared his intention to retire from the political arena, is a South Carolina lady of color rejoicing in the euphonious appellation of Manning Gumbo. Mrs. Gumbo is a champion of woman's rights, and has proclaimed herself a candidate for the Vice-Presidency, and says that she will go to the City of Brotherly Love to press her claims in person. Her ticket, "Grant and Gumbo," would have the merit of sounding well, and would be likely to carry many colored votes in the Virginias and Carolinas. It reminds one of the old slave ballad about the "gumbo and the cream." Common gallantry would seem to require that the lady's name should have precedence, in which case the ticket would read, "Gumbo and Grant," but under the system of woman's rights gallantry is out of the question. Considering that Colfax has retired so frequently, and that Grant's chances for a re-election to the Presidency are not improving, we recommend the extension of the franchise to the colored ladies of the South by Congressional enactment, and the adoption of Mrs. Gumbo by the office-holders' convention as a brilliant coup d'etat.

A FINE REPRESENTATIVE.—The German press is publishing with great gusto the shamefully interesting details of the latest exploits of Craner, our Minister to Copenhagen. (Grant's brother-in-law.) The Royal Club, to which he applied for membership, has never, during its thirty years of existence, black-balled a foreign minister. When the name of our representative was posted, however, strong objections were made. Members of the Executive Committee declared that they would withdraw if he were admitted. He was advised to abandon the idea, refused to do so, and received twelve white balls to over 280 black. Then he made the matter worse, proclaiming that he represented our people, and had been rejected for that reason by "reactionistic scoundrels." Finally this democratic scoundrel attacked one of his black-balls in the Copenhagen Express. He was seized by the police, and taken home amid the jeers of the rabble.

A Yankee, having once told an Englishman that on one particular occasion he shot nine hundred and ninety-nine snipes, the Englishman asked why he did not make it a thousand at once. "No," said he, "not likely I'm going to tell a lie for a single snipe." Thereupon the Englishman rather "cried," and determined not to be outdone, began to tell a story of a man having swam from Liverpool to Boston. "Did you see him?" asked the Yankee. "Why of course I did. I was coming across, and our vessel passed him a mile out of Boston harbor." "Well, I'm glad you saw him stranger, was ever a witness that I did it. That was me."

The Baltimore American, one of the leading Grant organs, conducted by C. C. Fulton, has a leading editorial on the existing political situation, in which it says of the nomination of Greeley: "Allowing him the utmost margin, we may, for the sake of enforcing the lesson, admit that, according to existing indications, if the Democrats support him as a unit, he will be elected the next President. The American is thoroughly scared, and virtually advocates the throwing of Grant overboard as the position domain, in order to lighten the ship.

The Monticellian contains the following item:

A certain physician in our county was riding late at night near Cut Off, where he was stopped by a band of robbers, who demanded his money. The disciple of Esculapius replied that he had just paid his taxes; and produced the receipt. "You can pass," said the robbers. "We have caught twenty men recently with tax receipts, and not one of them had a cent of money."

On Wednesday last, a duel was fought at New Orleans between two young journalists of that city—Mr. J. Passana Domenech, of the Bee, and Mr. J. Noblum, of L'Albion. They fought with pistols at ten paces. The first fire was ineffectual, but in the second Mr. Noblum was slightly wounded in the region of the stomach. The bullet was safely extracted, the seconds declared the wounded honor satisfied, a general hand-shaking followed, and all left the ground happy.

NEAR CEDAR BLUFF Feb., 28, 1871

Messrs. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sirs:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind our lumber (by the watch) in eleven minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I prefer the used to my team mill here. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,
H. H. MILLER.
